Class Policies, Assignments, and Grading Specific to this Class Section

Code of Conduct

Professional conduct is built upon the idea of mutual respect. You will be expected to communicate and behave professionally in all class communications and interactions. This includes respectfully disagreeing with each other when appropriate, offering constructive criticism to each other's work, respecting perspectives different from your own, and embracing the idea (which I strongly believe in) that we can learn from each other and our diverse belief systems and life experiences.

All work must be your own. That said, I welcome you to use these tools to conduct research and to help you better understand the content.

Accepting Late Work

Late work is reviewed case by case. Point deductions will apply based on circumstances and how late the work is. Assignments submitted more than two weeks after the due date will not be graded. Lockdowns and program cancellations will also be assessed individually.

Life happens, and no apology is required for late work. This is your education, and I assume you are doing your best. That said, this is a business course. Just as in business, the work must be completed. Time management is a core business skill and will be expected in this class.

Program Cancellations

If the Pelican Bay Scholars Program is not able to meet in person as planned for more than 2 weeks, you can expect a correspondence packet will be mailed to you and/or additional directions will be provided in the Announcements in Canvas. If class is cancelled, continue to follow the course outline provided in this syllabus and in Canvas.

Participation

The college environment is a place of scholarly and professional development. As such, in all our interactions, we should maintain an attitude of kindness, respect, and a core emphasis on acquiring knowledge. Dissent and differences of opinion are natural and encouraged, as long as they are centered on the subject matter and not the individuals involved. Higher education encourages us to explore diverse ways of thinking. By being receptive to novel viewpoints, you can enrich and enhance your educational journey.

AI Use Policy

Artificial intelligence tools (such as ChatGPT) may be used in this course to support learning. AI should be used as a thinking aid—not a replacement for your own work. You are fully responsible for everything you submit, including accuracy, clarity, bias, and alignment with your own ideas and voice. Work that relies on AI to do the thinking or writing for you does not meet course expectations.

Example 1: Appropriate Use

Using AI to help brainstorm ideas, clarify a concept from the reading, or check grammar after you have written your own response. The final submission clearly reflects your own thinking, voice, and understanding.

Example 2: Inappropriate Use

Using AI to write all or most of an assignment, discussion post, or reflection and submitting it as your own work, even if you make small edits afterward.

Assignments

Assignments: We will have 6 assignments. These are designed to help you apply and understand the course material, not just memorize it. You can use your notes, textbooks, and other course materials, but remember, the goal is to engage deeply with the textbook content. These assignments will test your ability to interpret, analyze, and apply information, rather than just recalling facts.

Social Media Plan (final presentation): The requirements for the Marketing Plan will be in your packet and posted to Canvas.

*Please see the Modules section on Canvas to see a detailed weekly schedule including assignment descriptions and due dates. All work is submitted in Canvas or mailed and must be turned in by the due date.

Academic dishonesty

In the academic community, the high value placed on truth implies a corresponding intolerance of scholastic dishonesty. In cases involving academic dishonesty, determination of the grade and of the student's status in the course is left primarily to the discretion of the faculty member. In such cases, where the instructor determines that a student has demonstrated academic dishonesty, the student may receive a failing grade for the assignment and/or exam and may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Disruptive behavior

Student behavior or speech that disrupts the instructional setting will not be tolerated. Disruptive conduct may include, but is not limited to: unwarranted interruptions; failure to adhere to instructor's directions; vulgar or obscene language; slurs or other forms of intimidation; and physically or verbally abusive behavior. In such cases where the instructor determines that a student has disrupted the educational process, a disruptive student may be temporarily removed from class. In addition, the student may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.
