Catalog Description

An introduction to the fundamental theories and techniques of public speaking stressing audience analysis, logical organization, and support of ideas. Students will analyze and research issues and will construct and deliver informative and persuasive speeches on topics of current concern.

Course Student Learning Outcomes (from course outline of record)

1. Based upon accepted theoretical models of human communication, analyze the communication situation, audience, occasion, and subject matter in order to construct and deliver effective speeches, using classical and contemporary rhetorical techniques to inform and/or persuade an audience.
2. Exercise ethical considerations in the development, support, and presentation of ideas to diverse audiences.
3. Critically analyze informative and persuasive communication including classroom speeches, their own presentations, and additional messages to which students are regularly exposed.
4. Conduct relevant research, analyzing and evaluating electronic and print sources and other research materials for authority, credibility, relevance, and bias to credibly support speeches.

Accessibility

College of the Redwoods is committed to making reasonable accommodations for qualified students with disabilities. If you have a disability or believe you might benefit from disability-related services and accommodations, please contact your instructor or Disability Services and Programs for Students (DSPS).

Students may make requests for alternative media by contacting DSPS based on their campus location:

- Eureka: 707-476-4280, student services building, 1st floor
- Del Norte: 707-465-2324, main building near library
- Klamath-Trinity: 530-625-4821 Ext 103

If you are taking online classes DSPS will email approved accommodations for distance education classes to your instructor. In the case of face-to-face instruction, please present your written accommodation request to your instructor at least one week before the needed accommodation so that necessary arrangements can be made. Last minute arrangements or post-test adjustments usually cannot be accommodated.

General Information and Course Policies

Course Overview: This course will focus on speech preparation and delivery skills. Some of the topics that will be studied include topic and purpose selection, research and organization of materials, language choices, audience analysis, listening skills, and strategies and ethics of persuasion. You will develop skills in topic research, constructing and outlining speeches, delivering traditional informative and persuasive speeches, and using visual aids. The main goal of this class is to give you an understanding of the processes involved in public speaking and a chance to develop your skills through the practical application of this understanding.

Remember that this course is an introduction to public speaking, which means that you are not expected to have had any public speaking experience before taking the class. Even the thought of public speaking is anxiety producing for most people; therefore we will address some of the most effective ways to manage your anxiety. Keep in mind that it is much worse from the inside looking out than from the outside looking in. The audience will rarely be able to detect your nervousness. Taking a public speaking class is a great way to increase your confidence and preparedness in public speaking situations.

Textbook:

Comm 1 uses an open-source textbook, available on line for free.

Additional needed resources:

- Speech recording: digital camera, smart phone, or tablet should work fine
- 1 package WHITE 4 x 6 notecards (only notecards – no paper notes)
- Hardware: Students should have access to a reliable computer, printer and internet connection (ideally high speed internet) to access course resources and submit assignments, complete the reading quizzes, and the unit exams. Computers are available for student use in the Learning Resource Center on the Eureka Campus. Please plan to schedule time to complete course tasks and assignments at a CR computer lab if you do not have access to these tools at home.

Software

o Canvas - This course uses an online Learning Management System (LMS) called Canvas, which is provided by the college. To get to the class you will need to log in to: redwoods.instructure.com/login and select "COMM 1" and our class section.

▪ Your login name will be your first initial, last name, last three digits of your student I.D number (e.g. sgarcis567), your password is your eight-digit date of birth (06031996) " o Canvas App - If you have a smart phone or a tablet there is a free Canvas app through the Apple store or an app available at this link for Android devices.

<https://play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=com.instructure.candroid&hl=en>. The Canvas App can be used for some functions, but you should not rely on a mobile device to complete all of the course requirements. A computer is required to successfully complete this course.

o Microsoft Word compatible software - In this course you will need to open and/or create Microsoft Word compatible documents. All students at CR have access to a free Microsoft 360 account. There are also other free software options available such as Google Docs (see <https://www.google.com/docs/about/>) or LibreOffice (see <https://www.libreoffice.org/>) and many more. If you use Pages for Mac, you will need to export your files in one of the above formats.

o Adobe Acrobat Reader – A free Adobe Acrobat PDF Reader is available which will allow you to open and read PDF files.

Technology Skills: Students should be able to navigate the course learning management system (website) and external websites, open and download files, use a word processor with either Microsoft Word (.docx) or compatible software, and be able to convert files to rich text format (.rtf) or portable document format (.pdf) and submit files to the class website. It is the student's responsibility to meet the technological demands of the course.

Tech Support: As an instructor, I am available to assist you with course content and assignments, but my role does not include technical support. However, you should let me know if you are having technical difficulties that affect your participation in the course so that I know how to best support you, and if needed work out a short-term accommodation. Before contacting Technical Support please visit the Online Support Page at <http://www.redwoods.edu/online/Help>.

For password issues with Canvas, Web Advisor or your mycr.redwoods.edu email, contact Technical Support at its@redwoods.edu or call 707-476-4160 or 800-641-0400 ext. 4160 between 8:00 A.M. and 4:00 P.M., Monday through Friday.

Communication Guidelines: Effective communication is essentially about being “other-oriented” and at minimum showing respect for both yourself and the other person. This class requires that students demonstrate mutual respect in their interactions. Most people experience a significant amount of anxiety related to public speaking. As an academic community we share a mutual responsibility to create and maintain a supportive classroom environment where students feel safe to speak out and apply new communication skills.

You need not to agree with every comment or argument that is made in the class, either by your peers or myself. However, it is expected that you will be respectful of those with different opinions and perspectives than your own. Listen attentively when others are speaking, ask questions, and speak up when you have something to add to the discussion. Avoid creating “noise” or distractions for others.

Office Hours and Communication with Instructor: Please come to office hours if you have any questions, concerns or need any assistance with the class – and don't wait until you get behind or are overwhelmed. Even if you don't need any specific assistance on an assignment, please feel free to come by and introduce yourself or to discuss your education interests.

The most effective way to communicate with me is by email. You may write me directly: TimothyPearson@redwoods.edu, or use Canvas email for personal student-teacher communication. To access the email system in Canvas click on the "Inbox" link on the left dark grey bar to bring up your Canvas email. Clicking on the person icon in the "To:" address bar will allow you to choose the course, student or teacher, and then the person that you would like to email. Click on COMM 1, teacher, and choose my name, Timothy Pearson. Type a message in the message area and click send to send your message.

General Class Behavior: Take responsibility for your own learning by coming to every class on time, reading the materials, completing the assignments, and opening yourself up to new ideas and ways of communicating. Don't come to class stoned, drunk or otherwise chemically altered. Show common courtesy to others in this class. This means: no walking in late or leaving early, no side conversations, no noisy packing or unpacking, and don't use class time to work on unrelated stuff. Don't waste our time by presenting ill-prepared, sloppy speeches. If you are late to class on a speaking day, DON'T walk in during someone's speech. Wait outside until you hear applause and quietly enter the room.

Personal Technological Devices: DO NOT answer your phone or engage in texting, gaming, or web surfing during class time (unless instructed to do so). If you need to keep in touch with someone in an emergency, please make sure to silence (not vibrate) your device prior to coming to class. I do not permit the taking of notes on phones, laptops, tablet or any other personal digital communication device not yet invented.

Language/content disclaimer: During this class I may show film clips that contain some profanity, violence, and/or suggested sexual content. These films will be used to offer practical application of concepts, theories or ideas discussed in class and textbook.

Note: I reserve the right to establish additional policies, as I deem necessary to provide you with the best learning environment possible.

GRADING

Percentages will be calculated by taking the total points earned in the course and dividing by total possible points (100).

A: 92 – 100 A-: 89 – 91 B+: 86 – 88

B: 82 – 85 B-: 80 - 81 C+: 77 – 79

C: 72 – 75 C-: 70 – 71 D+: 66 – 69

D: 62 – 65 D-: 60 – 61 F: 59 and below

ASSIGNMENTS (WITH GRADE WEIGHTS)

Assignments (with grade weights)

Quizzes – on Canvas (10x1) 10%

Smaller Assignments (8 x 1.25) 10%

Smaller assignments include an outlining activity, two self-evaluations, four video responses and a commercial analysis. I will issue specific instructions for each.

Speech 1 (Introductory, 2-3 minutes) 10%

This 2-3 minute speech is designed to serve as an ice-breaking speech for you and your audience. The speech will inform your classmates about a personal accomplishment, goal, value, belief or some other significant aspect of your life and personality. This speech should allow the audience to get some feeling for who you are and what you are about.

Speech 2 (Informative, 5 minutes) 15%

Select a place you have never visited. You are going to research this place in order to give an informative speech to potential visitors about the three most important places or things of interest that a tourist would want to see and/or experience.

Speech 3 (Persuasive, 7 minutes) 20%

For this speech, your argument may concern and issue of fact, value or policy – your choice. Make sure that your introduction features the necessary components (get attention, announce topic/thesis statement, preview support). You should state or otherwise indicate who your audience is (and thus their disposition toward the topic) and demonstrate strategic adaptation to that audience.

Speech 4 (Special Occasion, 3 minutes) 15%

Choose an event – an award ceremony, a graduation, a retirement, a wedding etc. – and craft a short speech commemorating the event and celebrating the participant(s). The usual rules of organization (3 part introduction, research) are not important here. The significance of this speech revolves around a commemoration of the situation and the congratulatory focus on the personal subjects.

TV Commercials (2 minutes each, 2 x 10) 20%

You are to create two original advertisements of between one and two minutes, film them and post them on YouTube. One will be a public service announcement. The other commercial may be for an existing or imaginary product or service, however if for an existing one, the commercial itself must be original, NOT a variation on one already aired. You do not have to appear on camera, but you must speak, and the words must be original. While you may involve students from outside of class, your own work must be evident. This speech must incorporate an approved visual aid, and your use of that aid should demonstrate the sort of strategic proficiency discussed in class; it should augment your argument, not distract.

OUTLINES AND BIBLIOGRAPHIES (MLA STYLE) MUST BE SUBMITTED AT TIME OF SPEECH. FAILURE TO SUBMIT OUTLINE AND BIBLIOGRAPHY IN PROPER FORMAT WILL RESULT IN A 10 POINT PENALTY.

General Guidelines for Speeches: Always be sure to review the assignment sheet for speaking assignments to ensure that you have met all the requirements before submitting an outline or delivering your speech. It is important that you conform to the time limit given for a particular assignment. Time limits are factored into the speech grade. To make sure that your speech conforms to the specified time limit, you should practice your speech, out loud and standing up, and time it before delivering to the class for a grade.

Dress Code for Speeches: All speakers are expected to dress professionally. This means no shorts, jeans, t-shirts, tank tops, sweatpants, sweatshirts, flip-flops, athletic shoes, or hats. Your presentation of yourself contributes to your credibility as a speaker and should support your message, rather than detract from it.

Participation: Class activities, discussions, lectures, and speeches constitute a large part of the course. This course does not exist in class notes; it exists in your experiences and application of the class materials. In addition, you will be providing peer feedback on your classmate's speeches, which serves as an important learning instrument for both speakers and audience members.

Because attendance is critical to your success in this class, attendance is mandatory and you will need to come prepared and ready to participate. I do not distinguish between excused and unexcused absences; an absence is an absence. This rule applies equally to distance learning as well as in the classroom.

Lectures and class activities will NOT be repeated for the students who miss class. Please be on time and be aware of your own attendance status. If you miss a class or part of a class, it is your obligation to find out from a classmate or, if that fails, from me, what you missed. An absence is not an excuse for a late or missing assignment.

I do reserve the right to drop you from the class up until the tenth week of classes if I determine that you are an "inactive" student due to excessive absences (five or more absences).

Reading: Reading should be completed by the date on which it is listed on the schedule in the syllabus. Come to class prepared to discuss the day's assigned reading. Lectures and class activities are based upon the expectation that you have done the reading and are familiar with the material.

Due Dates: You will need to turn all assignments in on time according to the due dates listed in the syllabus schedule and Modules on Canvas in order for the assignment to be eligible for full points.

- Due dates and submission requirements are indicated on the schedule. Assignments submitted after the class period in which they are due will not be accepted unless you have made prior arrangements with me before the due date (and this usually will result in a grade penalty).
- Papers sent via email, or dropped into my mailbox after class has ended WILL NOT be graded! Please plan ahead. You are welcome to turn assignments in early. Computer issues are not considered legitimate excuses for missing a due date.
- Occasionally circumstances arise which are truly extenuating, meaning usual, unanticipated and completely beyond your control. Should such circumstances occur and cause you to miss a due date you please contact me as soon as possible. Procrastination doesn't make these situations better.

Written Work: All papers should be typed, double-spaced; Times New Roman or Arial; 12-point font; 1" margins and formatted using MLA style guidelines, including works cited pages and in text citations.

Please be sure to carefully edit all papers for spelling, grammar, punctuation and organization. Mechanical aspects of writing will be taken into account for grading purposes.

Plagiarism: Do not copy any written, visual, or oral information and claim it as your own. This includes lessons or lecture notes, information from the textbook, and other books or resources, and digital sources such as websites. Your contributions to the activities and assessments in the course must represent your own work. If you incorporate the work of others into your written or oral communication, you need to cite the work of others. If I suspect you of plagiarism, your work will be submitted to Turnitin.com to ascertain any matches to existing work. Students that plagiarize information will at minimum receive a failing grade on the plagiarized assignment, and be turned in to the division dean and the student conduct officer and/or team. Plagiarism will put students at risk of failing the course.
