Catalog Description

An introduction to the legalities, standards, policies and procedures, prevention techniques, and early childhood curriculum related to health, safety, and nutrition. The key components that ensure physical health, mental health and safety for both children and staff will be identified along with the importance of collaboration with families and health professionals. A focus will be on integrating the concepts into everyday planning and program development.

Submission Rationale:

Course Student Learning Outcomes

1. Identify health, safety, and environmental risks in children's programs.

2. Evaluate the relationship between healthy development and nutrition and analyze the nutritional needs of children at various ages.

3. Assess strategies to maximize the mental and physical health of children and adults in programs for young children.

4. Evaluate regulations, standards and policies and procedures related to health, safety and nutrition in support of young children, teachers and families.

5. Distinguish aspects of quality in programs for young children as related to health and safety, acknowledging the value of collaboration with families and community.

Prerequisites/co-requisites/ recommended preparation none

Accessibility

Students will have access to online course materials that comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and College of the Redwoods policies. Students who discover access issues with this class should contact the instructor.

College of the Redwoods is also committed to making reasonable accommodations for qualified students with disabilities. If you have a disability or believe you might benefit from disability-related services and accommodations, please contact your instructor or Disability Services and Programs for Students (DSPS). Students may make requests for alternative media by contacting DSPS based on their campus location:

- Eureka: 707-476-4280, student services building, 1st floor
- Del Norte: 707-465-2324, main building near library
- Klamath-Trinity: 530-625-4821 Ext 103

During COVID19, approved accommodations for distance education classes will be emailed to the instructor by DSPS. In the case of face to face instruction, please present your written accommodation request to your instructor at least one week before the first test so that necessary arrangements can be made. Last-minute arrangements or post-test adjustments cannot usually be accommodated.

Other verbiage you can include if you want:

Support for online learners during COVID-19

In response to COVID-19, College of the Redwoods moved the majority of its courses online to protect health and safety. As the faculty and students adjust to this change, clear communication about student needs will help everyone be successful. Please let me know about any specific challenges or technology limitations that might affect your participation in class. I want every student to thrive.

Class Participation and Question of the day

Students are expected to attend the class meetings all semester on a regular basis. Your active participation in the class is an important part of the learning process for everyone. This includes regular attendance, prompt arrival to class, staying for the entire class, participation in class discussion and activities, and behavior which encourages respect for other adults in the classroom. Involvement in- group activities is important.

Academic dishonesty

In the academic community, the high value placed on truth implies a corresponding intolerance of scholastic dishonesty. In cases involving academic dishonesty, determination of the grade and of the student's status in the course is left primarily to the discretion of the faculty member. In such cases, where the instructor determines that a student has demonstrated academic dishonesty, the student may receive a failing grade for the assignment and/or exam and may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Disruptive behavior

Student behavior or speech that disrupts the instructional setting will not be tolerated. Disruptive conduct may include, but is not limited to: unwarranted interruptions; failure to adhere to instructor's directions; vulgar or obscene language; slurs or other forms of intimidation; and physically or verbally abusive behavior. In such cases where the instructor determines that a student has disrupted the educational process, a disruptive student may be temporarily removed from class. In addition, the student may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Inclusive Language in the Classroom

College of the Redwoods aspires to create a learning environment in which all people feel comfortable in contributing their perspectives to classroom discussions. It therefore encourages instructors and students to use language that is inclusive and respectful.

Academic dishonesty

In the academic community, the high value placed on truth implies a corresponding intolerance of scholastic dishonesty. In cases involving academic dishonesty, determination of the grade and of the student's status in the course is left primarily to the discretion of the faculty member. In such cases, where the instructor determines that a student has demonstrated academic dishonesty, the student may receive a failing grade for the assignment and/or exam and may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Disruptive behavior

Student behavior or speech that disrupts the instructional setting will not be tolerated. Disruptive conduct may include, but is not limited to: unwarranted interruptions; failure to adhere to instructor's directions; vulgar or obscene language; slurs or other forms of intimidation; and physically or verbally abusive behavior. In such cases where the instructor determines that a student has disrupted the educational process, a disruptive student may be temporarily removed from class. In addition, the student may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Policies for this Class

Class participation and Attendance policy
Explain how participation is evaluated.

Communication Guidelines
Consider including: response times to emails and messages, availability, times you will not be checking email or messages, your preferred means of contact and any other preferences, such as specifics of email subject lines, encouragement to attend office hours, or similar. You may also want to include a statement on student privacy rights, including the legal rights of students that prevent information from being disclosed to anyone (including parents/guardians) without the student's prior written consent.

Regular effective contact (required for online classes)
Required by the ACCJC and Title 5 for Online Classes: "Instructor should initiate frequent interactions with all students, both individually and collectively, and that students should have frequent opportunities to regularly interact with each other". Be sure that your communication guidelines describe how you will initiate regular effective contact and maintain substantive interaction by including elements such as timely and substantive feedback on course assignments, threaded discussion forums and weekly announcements. Instructor-prepared materials are required in addition to any publisher-created materials to create a virtual equivalent of face-to-face classes. Your description must be consistent with the methods of Regular Effective Contact in the DE Course Proposal form.

Policies - additional
Describe additional policies you have including late work/make-ups, tardiness, and use of personal technological devices.

Information for this Class

Class schedule
Include the scheduled dates for each of the class meetings, and indicate finalized or tentative readings, assignment due dates, quizzes, and exams. Note that this is tentative.

The First Day the Class Meets should be made clear here (since our semesters start on Saturdays, which confuses people). Dates of Holidays and non-class days (Spring Break, Fall Break, Lincoln Day) should also be listed in the CLASS schedule, along with the last regular class meeting, finals week information, AND the last date that late work will be accepted.

Any meetings scheduled outside of normal class time (such as field trips) should be clearly indicated. Note that the Canvas LMS automatically adds a class schedule to your syllabus if you choose to use this option.

Example schedule

Recommended textbooks & other materials
Title, edition, author, ISBN. Note: these books are not covered by EOPS book vouchers.

Proctoring (*required for online courses)
[Instructor: explain whether or not proctoring is required, and if so, what proctoring options are available. Please note that for an online course you must include both an off campuses option in addition to our on campus testing center. Typically it has been up to the student to choose and arrange for an approved off campus proctor, however this process can be both complicated and time consuming for both student and instructor. CR can now offer proctoring through Canvas and Proctorio, a proctoring software and lockdown browser. This can be a good option for students who have limited local resources or mobility issues.

Gender-Inclusive Language in the Classroom

College of the Redwoods aspires to create a learning environment in which all people feel comfortable in contributing their perspectives to classroom discussions. It therefore encourages instructors and students to use language that is gender-inclusive and non-sexist to affirm and respect how people describe, express, and experience their gender. Just as sexist language excludes women's experiences, non-gender-inclusive language excludes the experiences of individuals whose identities may not fit the gender binary, and/or who may not identify with the sex they were assigned at birth. Gender-inclusive/non-sexist language acknowledges people of any gender (for example, first year student versus freshman, humankind versus mankind, etc.), affirms non-binary gender identifications, and recognizes the difference between biological sex and gender expression.

Students have the ability to have an alternate first name and pronouns to appear in Canvas. Contact Admissions & Records to request a change to your preferred first name and pronoun. Your Preferred Name will only be listed in Canvas. It does not change your legal name in our records. See the Student Information Update form.
