Catalog Description

An in-depth historical study of the social, cultural, political, and economic developments in North America from the perspective of women, from the period just prior to European contact through the end of Reconstruction. Special emphasis is placed upon the varying ways in which women of diverse classes, races, and ethnicities have both contributed to and been affected by the larger historical patterns in U.S. history. The course will introduce students to the nature of historical interpretation, enable students to interpret sources written during the historical time periods investigated in the class, and familiarize students with gender-related issues in the American past.

Course Student Learning Outcomes

1. Analyze and assess the merits of various historical interpretations.
2. Analyze significant historical developments through the application of the concepts of process, context, and/or difference.
3. Apply secondary and/or primary source material to construct written and oral, logical, historical arguments.

Prerequisites/co-requisites/ recommended preparation

None

Accessibility

Students will have access to online course materials that comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and College of the Redwoods policies. Students who discover access issues with this class should contact the instructor.

College of the Redwoods is also committed to making reasonable accommodations for qualified students with disabilities. If you have a disability or believe you might benefit from disability-related services and accommodations, please contact your instructor or Disability Services and Programs for Students (DSPS). Students may make requests for alternative media by contacting DSPS based on their campus location:

- Eureka: 707-476-4280, student services building, 1st floor
- Del Norte: 707-465-2324, main building near library
- Klamath-Trinity: 530-625-4821 Ext 103

During COVID19, approved accommodations for distance education classes will be emailed to the instructor by DSPS. In the case of face to face instruction, please present your written accommodation request to your instructor at least one week before the first test so that necessary arrangements can be made. Last-minute arrangements or post-test adjustments cannot usually be accommodated.

Canvas Information

This class will be offered through the Canvas learning management system. There are instructions on the basics of Canvas and additional help with preparation for taking an online course at College of the Redwoods on the CR-Online web page.

Course Policies

Required Texts

1. L. Kerber et al., Women's America: Refocusing the Past. Ninth Edition. New York: Oxford University Press, 2020. ISBN 9780190945756.
2. A. Queen, ed., HIST-11 Primary Source Anthology (online and free on our Canvas class website)

Communication

The best way to reach me is with a message in Canvas. You can also use my CR email (abigail-queen@redwoods.edu). I will reply as soon as possible, definitely within a few business days.

Participation

If you have excessive absences you may be withdrawn from the class up to the tenth week of the semester. The CR catalog states that absences may be considered excessive when cumulative absences exceed the total number of hours that the class meets during one week. In an online classroom, this means that if you have not submitted any work or contacted me for one week, you may be withdrawn from the class roster. I will send you a message before taking that step. If you miss class, please stay in touch by sending me a quick message.

Late submissions

Assignments may be submitted up to one week after the due date. Points will be deducted for lateness each day. Discussion posts may not be submitted late. No coursework may be submitted after the last day of the semester.

Plagiarism

Academic dishonesty such as plagiarism will result in a score of 0 for that assignment. Repeated offenses will result in serious disciplinary action at the college level. Plagiarism is copying directly from another source, word for word, without using quotes and citing the source. Plagiarizing makes a person look like an idiot. Use your own words. Note: it is a violation of college policy to “recycle” work, for example, submitting a paper for credit in this class that you have submitted or will submit for credit in another class. If you are not sure what counts as plagiarism, please ask me for some guidance.

Detail of coursework

Each week you will need to:

1. Complete the “Reading Guide” quiz about the required reading in the Kerber textbook,
2. View the lecture videos and take notes (your notes will be useful on the Midterm and Final Exams),
3. Read a primary text from the HIST-11 Primary Source Anthology or the Kerber textbook,
4. Post at least three discussion comments.

Reading Guides (~16 points each)

A Reading Guide about the required reading in the Kerber textbook is due each Wednesday. You can easily answer the questions as you complete the reading. Reading Guides are untimed, with unlimited submission attempts. They are worth approximately 20 points each.

The Reading Guides serve two purposes. First, they will help you understand the required reading in the textbook. If you understand the basic material by Wednesday, you will get a lot more out of lecture and discussion during the rest of the week. Second, they help you accumulate some easy points.

Discussion

You need to post at least three comments in the weekly discussion forum:

- One comment in reply to a “Lecture Video” topic (100 words min.)
- One comment in reply to a “Primary Source” topic (100 words min.)
- One reply to another student (80 words min.)

Try to make your first contribution early in the week so that others have a chance to respond. Reply to other students whenever possible – this is a fun part of online learning! Please contribute more than the minimum requirement! Extra comments don’t have to be 80 words long or even 100% on topic: you can contribute brief remarks, personal responses, stories and anecdotes, just something like “I agree, that’s what I thought too!” or “This reminds me of”. The more we share, the more we learn. Thanks in advance for your energy and insights! I really do look forward to hearing your thoughts. See Canvas for full instructions and grading rubric.

Lecture videos

Each week you will need to view online lecture videos. Viewing the lectures is not a “graded” assignment, but you’ll need to do it in order to participate in discussions and succeed on the exams.

One great thing about online learning is that we can go to class at home in our pajamas at 3 AM if we want to. Or you can listen to a lecture on your phone as you take a walk or do chores, and then re-listen to refresh your memory before a test. You can pause, fast-forward, and rewind; it’s pretty convenient. But it also requires self-discipline. Try not to fall behind.

Source Analysis Paper (80 points)

Choose a primary source relevant to the history of women in the colonial or revolutionary periods. Write approximately 800 words using the source as a window onto the past: discuss how the source reflects, enriches, and/or challenges what we know about the experience and contributions of women in U.S. history. Use your knowledge of its historical context (such as the political, economic, cultural etc. background) to explain what the source meant to people in its own day, and what it can tell us about their world.

Find full instructions, "Source Analysis Workshop" slides, samples, and grading rubric on Canvas. I am happy to give you feedback on rough draft material if you send it to me well ahead of the due date.

Research Paper (150 points)

Write approximately 2,000 words exploring a thesis of your choice relevant to the history of women in the U.S. to c. 1877. Cite at least 1 reliable primary source and at least 2 reliable secondary sources. List sources in a bibliography at the end of the paper.

A Research Paper Workshop video and a quiz will help you get started on this assignment. Find full instructions, sample papers, and a detailed grading rubric on Canvas. I am happy to give you feedback on rough draft material if you send it to me well ahead of the due date.

Midterm and Final Exams (150 points each)

The Midterm & Final Exams will test your knowledge of material from lecture and the textbook. Each exam has two parts (75 points each): a timed multiple choice section and an untimed essay. The exams are open resource: you may refer to your lecture notes (your most valuable resource), your book, or the internet.

Sample questions will be available to help you prepare for each exam.

No late submissions – NO exceptions. Each test will be open for a whole week, so you have plenty of time. Do not wait until an hour before the deadline to begin the test.

Evaluation & Grading Policy

Grades are calculated on a simple point basis. Your course grade will be calculated as a percentage of (points you earned) out of (the total points possible) and converted to a letter grade based on the following scale. No assignments are weighted.

A	93% and above
A-	90-92%
B+	88-89%
B	83-87%
B-	80-82
C+	78-80%
C	70-77%
D	60-69%
F	59% and below

Academic dishonesty

In the academic community, the high value placed on truth implies a corresponding intolerance of scholastic dishonesty. In cases involving academic dishonesty, determination of the grade and of the student's status in the course is left primarily to the discretion of the faculty member. In such cases, where the instructor determines that a student has demonstrated academic dishonesty, the student may receive a failing grade for the assignment and/or exam and may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Disruptive behavior

Student behavior or speech that disrupts the instructional setting will not be tolerated. Disruptive conduct may include, but is not limited to: unwarranted interruptions; failure to adhere to instructor's directions; vulgar or obscene language; slurs or other forms of intimidation; and physically or verbally abusive behavior. In such cases where the instructor determines that a student has disrupted the educational process, a disruptive student may be temporarily removed from class. In addition, the student may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Inclusive Language in the Classroom

College of the Redwoods aspires to create a learning environment in which all people feel comfortable in contributing their perspectives to classroom discussions. It therefore encourages instructors and students to use language that is inclusive and respectful.

Setting Your Preferred Name in Canvas

Students have the ability to have an alternate first name and pronouns to appear in Canvas. Contact Admissions & Records to request a change to your preferred first name and pronoun. Your Preferred Name will only be listed in Canvas. It does not change your legal name in our records. See the Student Information Update form.
