Catalog Description

An exploration in the history of the United States from the Reconstruction period after the Civil War to the present. Of special importance is how the social, cultural, political, diplomatic, technological/scientific, and economic relations and institutions changed over time. The course will also introduce students to the nature of historical interpretation and how to interpret sources written during the historical time periods investigated in the class.

Course Student Learning Outcomes (from course outline of record)

1. Analyze and assess the merits of various historical interpretations.
2. Apply secondary and/or primary source material to construct written and oral, logical, historical arguments.

Accessibility

Students will have access to online course materials that comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and College of the Redwoods policies. Students who discover access issues with this class should contact the instructor.

College of the Redwoods is also committed to making reasonable accommodations for qualified students with disabilities. If you have a disability or believe you might benefit from disability-related services and accommodations, please contact your instructor or Disability Services and Programs for Students (DSPS). Students may make requests for alternative media by contacting DSPS based on their campus location:

- Eureka: 707-476-4280, student services building, 1st floor
- Del Norte: 707-465-2324, main building near library
- Klamath-Trinity: 530-625-4821 Ext 103

During COVID19, approved accommodations for distance education classes will be emailed to the instructor by DSPS. In the case of face to face instruction, please present your written accommodation request to your instructor at least one week before the first test so that necessary arrangements can be made. Last-minute arrangements or post-test adjustments cannot usually be accommodated.

Student Feedback Policy

Timely feedback will be provided throughout the course. Students will receive a response to any email inquiries within 48 hours. Feedback on work submitted will be provided no more than two weeks after the assignment is due but my expectation will be to return work within one week after the assignment due date.

This course will also have regular asynchronous contact through threaded discussion boards and weekly announcements.

Proctored Exams

Proctored exams are not required in this course.

Student Accessibility Statement

These standards are required by federal regulation. Students will have access to this course that complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and College of the Redwoods policies. Course materials will include a text equivalent for all non-text elements; videos will include closed captioning, images will include alt-tags, hyperlinks will use descriptive/meaningful phrases instead of URLs and audio files will include transcripts. All text will be formatted for use with screen readers and all course materials will be understandable without the use of color.

Academic dishonesty

In the academic community, the high value placed on truth implies a corresponding intolerance of scholastic dishonesty. In cases involving academic dishonesty, determination of the grade and of the student's status in the course is left primarily to the discretion of the faculty member. In such cases, where the instructor determines that a student has demonstrated academic dishonesty, the student may receive a failing grade for the assignment and/or exam and may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Disruptive behavior

Student behavior or speech that disrupts the instructional setting will not be tolerated. Disruptive conduct may include but is not limited to: unwarranted interruptions; failure to adhere to instructor's directions; vulgar or obscene language; slurs or other forms of intimidation; and physically or verbally abusive behavior. In such cases where the instructor determines that a student has disrupted the educational process, a disruptive student may be temporarily removed from class. In addition, the student may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Technology skills, requirements, and support

Tech equipment and skills are required for student success and of equal importance as required textbooks and materials.

Students can obtain a free Office 365 license (includes Word, Excel, PowerPoint and more) with a valid CR email.

Necessary Computer Skills – Ability to log into webadvisor, Canvas LMS, navigate the internet, and use a word processor. Before contacting Technical Support please visit the Online Support Page. For password issues with Canvas, Web Advisor or your mycr.redwoods.edu email, contact <mailto:its@redwoods.edu> or call 707-476-4160 or 800-641-0400 ext. 4160 between 8:00 A.M. and 4:00 P.M., Monday through Friday.

Instructor Expectations of Students: Your commitment will require at least as much time as you dedicate to a traditional class. You will need to carefully read weekly online announcements, textbook chapters, and primary source documents along with participating in online activities, watching online videos, participating in online discussions, completing weekly multiple choice quizzes and essay questions, and submit one paper. Conscientiousness, attention to details, and skills in reading and writing are critical for success.

Netiquette: When participating in online discussions please be respectful to your classmates. Adhere to the same standards of behavior online that you would follow if it were a discussion in an in-person course. If you would not say it in a traditional classroom setting, then it should not be said in the discussion forums.

Student Expectations of Instructor: I dedicate as much or more time to this class compared to a traditional class. I will access the class website regularly and respond to posted questions and messages within 48 hours. Additionally, I read every discussion forum post and occasionally participate. There is also regular instructor-based communication with weekly announcements, lectures, evaluative feedback to your discussion posts, and responding to emails/messages.

Course Communication: General questions (analogous to raising a hand in class) should be posted in the Discussions section using the “Questions for the Instructor” forum. Personal questions should be communicated with Canvas Email.

Course Assignments:

Essay Quizzes: Each chapter will have a time essay quiz. To receive full credit, you will need to completely answer each part of the question in the allotted time. Each essay question will be worth ten points.

Multiple Choice Quizzes: Each chapter will have a timed multiple-choice quiz. You will be allowed to take each quiz twice and the higher of the two grades will be accepted.

Discussion Boards: For every chapter you will be required to provide a quick summary of one primary source reading. The readings will come from various online sources and can be found in the corresponding chapter discussion board. The selection in which you are assigned is based up the first letter of your last name. I am looking for a summary of the primary source and how it relates to the assigned chapter readings. The initial discussion board post is due by Friday at midnight. The initial post will need to be at least 200 words and include the APA citation for the source summarized.

By Sunday at midnight a reply to at least one other student is required. These replies can be to any of the posted discussion boards. Each reply needs to be at least 150 words. I will respond to some of the discussion boards and any student response to my posts will also count towards the required responses for the week.

During week two, five, and nine in which two chapters are assigned only an initial post is required for the discussion board to receive full credit.

Research Paper: After reading The Radical King, a collection of speeches by MLK Jr., write a research paper that answers one of the following questions. Examine the radical nature of the speeches and actions of Martin Luther King Jr.; Why did King believe that to end racial inequality it was also important to reduce wealth inequality?; Compare and contrast the ideas of MLK Jr to those espoused by other leading figures in the Civil Rights movement in the 1960s.; How did the Vietnam War and racial inequality lead to race riots in the 1960s?; Discuss King’s position that greater economic equality and ending Vietnam was vital to ending racial tension in the United States. How did the United States respond to King’s anti-war activism?

While reading the book and writing the paper contemplate why the radical MLK is virtually forgotten and only the MLK who gave the “I Have a Dream” speech is remembered. This question does not need to be addressed in the research paper but it is an important to question to ponder as it impacts race relations in modern American society.

At least three primary sources (each speech can count as a primary source) and three secondary sources are required to be used for the research paper. The research paper should be at least five pages (not counting the title page and the references) and no more than ten pages. The paper must also be typed, double spaced, Times New Roman size 12 font and APA citations. The research paper is due December 14th and counts as your final exam.

Citations: All citations and references in this course will use APA citation standards. If you need assistance the Purdue University Online Writing Lab is an excellent resource as a citation guide.

Mapping Weekly Assignments with Modules: Every Monday the week’s assignments are posted in Announcements and in Modules. The weekly assignments will typically require you to read online lectures, read textbook chapters, read primary source documents, watch videos, participate in discussion forums, and complete chapter quizzes.
