Catalog Description

An exploration in the history of the United States from the original inhabitants of the North American continent to the end of the Reconstruction period after the American Civil War. Of special importance is how the social, political, diplomatic, cultural, ethnic, economic, and technological/scientific relations and institutions changed over time. The course will also introduce students to the nature of historical interpretation and how to interpret sources written during the historical time periods investigated in the class.

Course Student Learning Outcomes

- 1. Analyze and assess the merits of various historical interpretations.
- 2. Apply secondary and/or primary source material to construct written and oral, logical, historical arguments.

Prerequisites/co-requisites/ recommended preparation

No limitations, but there is a fair amount of reading and writing required in the class.

Accessibility

College of the Redwoods is also committed to making reasonable accommodations for qualified students with disabilities. If you have a disability or believe you might benefit from disability-related services and accommodations, please contact College of the Redwoods staff in Pelican Bay.

Student Support

Please let me know about any specific challenges or limitations that might affect your participation in class. I want every student to thrive and be successful in their studies.

You may send me a formal letter or a question/comment on the provided Burning Question Sheets; these are to be mailed to the PBSP Education Office (Attn: CR Scholars). I will respond right away; however, keep in mind that there is a mail delay that needs to be accounted for. As a result, it may take me up to a week to respond; please be patient.

Required Materials

- 1) Locke, Joseph and Ben Wright, eds. The American Yawp. (Stanford: Board of Trustees of Leland Stanford University, 2019).
- 2) Foner, Eric, ed. Voices of Freedom. V.1. 7th edition. (New York: W.W. Norton, 2023).

Evaluation & Grading Policy

Method of determining final course grade:

- 1. POD assignment responses 40% (for total number due—amounts to approximately 3.5% per week)

- 80-82: B- (Defined as "Good": Fulfills all requirements and meets expectations.)
- 78-79: C+ (Defined as "satisfactory": Fulfills most requirements and meets some expectations.)
- 70-77: C (Defined as "satisfactory": Fulfills most requirements and meets some expectations.)
- 60-69: D (Defined as "Poor": Fulfills some requirements; does not meet expectations.)
- <60: F (Defined as "Failing": Does not fulfill requirements and expectations.

Academic dishonesty

In the academic community, the high value placed on truth implies a corresponding intolerance of scholastic dishonesty. In cases involving academic dishonesty, determination of the grade and of the student's status in the course is left primarily to the discretion of the faculty member. In such cases, where the instructor determines that a student has demonstrated academic dishonesty, the student may receive a failing grade for the assignment and/or exam and may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Disruptive behavior

Student behavior or speech that disrupts the instructional setting will not be tolerated. Disruptive conduct may include, but is not limited to: unwarranted interruptions; failure to adhere to instructor's directions; vulgar or obscene language; slurs or other forms of intimidation; and physically or verbally abusive behavior. In such cases where the instructor determines that a student has disrupted the educational process, a disruptive student may be temporarily removed from class. In addition, the student may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Inclusive Language in the Classroom

College of the Redwoods aspires to create a learning environment in which all people feel comfortable in contributing their perspectives to classroom discussions. It therefore encourages instructors and students to use language that is inclusive and respectful.

Class Norms

In this class (realistically, every class), students must demonstrate mutual respect in their interactions with both peers (other students in the course) and the instructor (me). In our texts, issues may arise that are sometimes difficult and/or controversial. Please note that our readings may discuss or acknowledge violence, sexuality, racial tension and racism, misogyny, gender norms, etc. I am aware that these topics may be difficult to read and write about at times; nonetheless, our topics present an overview of ideas that are typical of a college classroom. As the instructor, my goal for facilitating these discussions is not to intentionally make anyone uncomfortable or to add any existing traumatic experiences; of course not. My goal is to facilitate discussions that develop our critical thinking abilities and develop our abilities to have an appropriate dialog that is necessary in spaces of higher education. This being said, as an academic community, we share a mutual responsibility to create and maintain a supportive environment where students, as well as the instructor, feel able to speak up and respond to the text and course material in a thoughtful and productive way, despite differences in opinions or experiences. This means that each student's ideas, feelings, and questions are valued; the professor's ideas, feelings, and questions are valued. This should ground our interactions with the texts and one another throughout the semester. Never hesitate to contact me if something is not sitting well or if you need relevant support.

HISTORY 8 (D7069): US History, 1877 through Reconstruction (S 5:30-8:40, D YARD)

Instructor: Dr. George Potamianos

"History is the art of making an argument about the past by telling a story accountable to evidence." Jill Lepore, The Story of America, p. 15

- I. Course Description: History 8 is an introduction to American civilization from the colonization period to the end of the Civil War. The course focuses on central themes and issues in the development of United States society and institutions by raising questions about human values, economic growth, institutional change, cultural development, and political "democracy" as various Americans had faced them. Topics treated in the course include: the causes of early colonization of the western hemisphere; the interactions between Native American and European cultures; the causes of the American Revolution' the legacy of the Revolution; the implementation of the Constitution; making the new government work in the 1790s; the importance of Thomas Jefferson; the War of 1812 and its consequences; antebellum reform; slavery; the Mexican War; the first industrial revolution and its consequences; the expansion westward and the Indian genocide; the Civil War; and the peculiar kind of freedom given to African Americans after the War.
- II. Academic Outcomes: To develop the following skills and competencies:
 - 1) Analyze and assess the merits of various historical interpretations.
 - 2) Apply secondary and/or primary source material to construct written and oral, logical, historical arguments.

IF CLASS IS CANCELLED: If class is cancelled, we will continue with the reading/POD schedule as listed in the syllabus above. When we reconvene, students will be able to turn in all of their assignments that have accumulated during the missed class sessions, without penalty. There may be a possibility to send written assignments to Professor Potamianos and, if so, we can proceed accordingly.

LATE WORK POLICY: I understand that things can be unpredictable in this environment, so I do accept late work without penalty up to a certain point. Work that is turned in three weeks or more after it has been due cannot earn more than a "C" grade. So, you can still pass the class with late work, but you will not be able to receive "excellent" marks on that work. Please do not hesitate to talk with me about the circumstances surrounding your inability to turn in your work on time and I can work with you if there are extenuating factors. This policy does not apply if the late work was due to class cancellation.
